TOPIC: Motivation We reviewed the level of student engagement and motivation in recent weeks. Rabbi Lewkowicz shares that a current initiative of assessing attendance, behavior, and academics is really helping to up the students' involvement. And we analyzed which elements are working well and which parts of the initiative may benefit from some tweaking. We discussed finding a healthy balance between creating expectations and keeping them high, and at the same time facilitating opportunities for students to actually achieve the desired objectives. Overall, Rabbi Lewkowicz appreciated the importance of finding a balance between high expectations and student ability / capability.
